Missen Note Whittlesey and Rorths Misses Nota Whittiesey and Bortha Hicklen, High school girls, didn't get 10 the sugar social Thursday night so they went to Nota's home and nad a family taffy social. They were April-fooled by "Lish," and after being in bed an hour, they got a scheme hatched to get even. They got a scheme hatched to get even. They got up and dressed, crept out the window onto the roof of a porch—"O' so cold." Slipping and sliding and numerous little "O's" got them to the gutter and down a corner post they slid to the earth. Then to the front door, and Bertha pounded loud and hard. "Lish" come and of his mid-night dream and decame out of his mid-night dream and de-manded in stern tones to know "who's there?" "Lillian Betts" was the reply-"Come out of it," "Lish' replied, "it's fier daughter, Hattle," "Come in Hatthe"-but in walked the near High school grads-"Lieh" was fooled and they were happy, though a wee bit cold.
